Text by Jennifer Trethewy:

Come all ye who have witnessed and heard tell of the great feats of honor, skill and chivalry done upon the field this day. Many have fought for the chance to stand for Crown and Kingdom, but one has risen above all. Therefore, do We, by the long traditions of Our Land and in Sovereignty, name as Our Queen's Champion.

Done on this the _____ day of _____, in the year of the Society _____, being _____ as reckoned by the Common Calendar.

Let all know who read or see these letters that We, _____, Queen by Grace and Beauty, of all Atenveldt, are well pleased by the honor, chivalry and prowess shown on the field of battle this day. It is for these good reasons, and because Our most loyal subject has vanquished all opponents who came before him on this day's tournament field, therefore, We do now bestow upon Our subject, the title of Our Queen's Champion for the duration of Our Reign. We do charge him with all of the rights and responsibilities of this most noble of Courtly Offices.

Done by Our Hands on this ____ day of _____, Anno Societatis _____, being _____ Commonly.
